

Dear CIM-LRD Member,

Reminder that the deadline to submit the application for a CIM-LRD academic scholarship is March 1, 2022.

Here is the email that was previously sent with links to the application:

The Construction Industries of Massachusetts-Labor Relations Division (“CIM-LRD”) once again will be awarding up to ten $5,000 academic scholarships to the employees, interns, coops and to the children or grandchildren of the employees of contractor members of the CIM-LRD for the 2022-2023 academic year. Eligibility is open to part-time students or students in continuing education programs who may receive up to $5,000 annually in scholarship, depending on the number of courses taken during the academic year.

These college scholarships will be awarded to eligible applicants who intend to pursue a construction-related major such as Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Construction Management, etc., in college in the Fall of 2022. The purpose of this award is to encourage CIM-LRD employees or the children and grandchildren of CIM-LRD employees to pursue construction-related careers.

We encourage you to inform your employees about this scholarship opportunity. Applicants can apply online through the new CIM-LRD website at: <https://cimlrd.com/member-benefits/scholarships/scholarship-application-form>.

If anyone in your company would like an application sent electronically, please contact Anxhela Pecani or me at (508) 620-0055, or email us at mjones@ogglaw.com or apecani@ogglaw.com.
